Water, Earth, and Life

Learn the story of Ojito de San Antonio property as it pertains to the history of the ancient acequias whose waters still flow today; the struggle of the property to become open space; and the historical and cultural relevance of the property today. Members from the Acequia Association will lead the talk at the property. This event is FREE to the public, but space is limited. RSVP is required.

This workshop is developed in partnership with the Acequia Association and Carnuel Land Grant.
